REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

TO THE SCHOOD BOARD OF GREENFIELD, N. H.:

Greenfield has maintained, for the past two and one-half years, a full accounting of both per-pupil costs, and per pupil achievement on standard basis.

The first accounting insures the tax-payer against over-expenditures. The costs for public school education in Greenfield are very low.

The second protects the tax-payer from receiving too low a return for the money invested, and insures the children against faulty education.

Liberal state aid is now provided. The amount for the ensuing year is approximately $530.00 more than for the fiscal year closing in 1925, $590.00 more than that for the next fiscal year, and about $500.00 more than for the fiscal year just closed.

Greenfield maintains an elementary school budget with accuracy and lives well within it. But over the matter of high school tuitions the school board has no control. These are statutory obligations against the town and can no more be avoided than can a state or county tax.

In the year ending in 1925 no money was raised and appropriated for high school tuitions. Present supervision does not know the reason for this, but it is assumed that the former superintendent of schools hoped that state aid for the elementary schools would provide a release of sufficient funds to care for this.

However, former policies had resulted in a decrease of state aid to the figure of $6.83, while the high school tuitions were known to be in excess of $900.00

The superintendent of schools and the school board chairman, Mr. Hopkins, went to Concord and were rewarded by an increase of state aid to the figure of $141.73. This left a balance of about $760.00 which had to be met from current funds, for which there was no available appropriation.

No state aid is available directly for high school tuitions.

But the total cost to the town for elementary school education can be reduced by proper policies dealing with elementary school expenditures where state aid can be applied for and secured.

The Board made a thorough survey of its expenditures, decided where losses could be stopped and a greater amount of state aid money be put to use. At present the school district, in its elementary expenditures, is on a sound financial footing in every way.

But the district is still lacking about half the amount of the $971.00 that it was forced to expend without revenue to pay for it, in 1925.

It is recommended that, since this sum is a statutory obligation against the town itself, and a sum over which the School Board has utterly no control, being unable and unwilling to deny to any child the statutory right of high school education, this indebtedness be made up during the present fiscal year. Costs for high school tuition are mounting as the number of children in high schools increases, and as the tuition cost advances.

During the past year a 177 day school year was maintained. The per cent of attendance was low, being but 90.7, due to conditions of public health. It is interesting to note that there were but 15 cases of tardiness against 148 in 1920, and against 34 in 1926.

Costs for elementary education and high school tuitions are still so very low in Greenfield that the district should carefully consider the wisdom of more adequate expenditure along the lines indicated by the Board in its budget, which takes into account still further increases in state aid.

(Signed)
